GETS FIVE YEARS

FAILS TO ESTABLISH ALIBI IN CAR THEFT CASE.

SOLOMON PLEADS GUILTY

Takes Three Convictions on Same
Charge—Mexican Pleads Guilty—
Negroes on Trial Today.

Attorneys for Jess Anderson, who was convicted by a jury of the theft of the John Hubbell car at Barnard and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, today filed an appeal to the supreme court. An effort will be made to secure his release on bond.

The attorneys claim new evidence has been discovered which will clear Anderson. They will contend that Anderson was mistaken for George Butters, a half breed Indian with a prison record, who bears resemblance to Anderson and who, the attorneys say, was the man who stole the car.

A motion for a new trial of the case was overruled by Judge John M. Dawson.

The motion for a new trial in the Jackson case was overruled.

In the case of Nan Palmer, negro, charged with illegal sale of liquor, the jury began its deliberations shortly before noon and had not reported at 3:30 o'clock.

Despite his efforts to establish an alibi, Ernest Jackson was convicted of stealing the John R. Hubbell car at Barnard on July 28 by a jury in circuit court last night and was given a sentence of five years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial will be filed by the defense within the next day or so, it is said.

William Solomon, who confessed yesterday in the Jackson case as stealing the Hubbell car, pleaded guilty in court this morning and was given a five year sentence. He will be taken to Jefferson City this afternoon. Solomon also had previously testified in the case of Jess Anderson that he had taken the car. Anderson received from the jury a sentence of five years for stealing the car but is held in jail pending a motion for a new trial.

Three men have now been convicted of this crime. Charles Whitmore, who was also charged with taking the car, is in jail in St. Joseph and his case will not be tried before January. Claud George, who had been arrested on the same charge, was released by Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey.

The jury in the Jackson case was out only about fifty minutes last night.

Francisco Flores, the Mexican who was charged with assault with intent to kill Jess Keene at Ravenwood, entered a plea of guilty and was given six months in jail. The Rev. S. P. Allison acted as interpreter for the Mexican.

Mrs. Harry Palmer colored, was tried today on the charge of selling intoxicating liquor. "Sunny" Vance, colored, was the prosecuting witness, and testified he had purchased liquor from Mrs. Palmer. Mrs. Palmer was indicted by the grand jury. A number of colored people testified in the case. The jury hearing the case is composed of W. W. Alexander, O. O. Gregory, Joseph Bird, Ben Tarpley, Ira Gillispie, Harry Lett, W. B. Graham, Ben H. Twaddell, John Morehouse, Russ Peters C. T. Frost, and George W. Alexander.

The case against Harry Palmer for selling intoxicating liquor on two counts is being tried this afternoon. "Sunny" Vance is again the prosecuting witness.

MOST SUCCESSFUL
CORN SHOW BEGINS

EXHIBITS AT COLLEGE ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

SCHOOLS HAVE DISPLAYS

Garrett School Has Large Double
Booth, and Twelve Others Have Big Collections

Judging by the attendance, the Nodaway County agricultural fair, corn show and domestic science exhibit was one of the most popular attractions at the college today.

The exhibit which is being held in the girls' gymnasium, is one of the largest and most successful ever held. According to Supt. Bert Cooper there are more than 100 schools of the county that have entered different exhibits. The displays of thirteen schools were of sufficient size to justify their being placed in separate booths.

The exhibit of the Garrett school is displayed in a large double booth, attractively trimmed in the many kinds of pretty fall leaves and contains a most interesting display of finished pieces in bench work, domestic science work. The booth of the Mount Ayr school carries out a green and yellow and black background.

Possibly the most attractive booth in decorations is the one of the Scudder school. An archway effect is made at the top of the booth with purple and yellow streamers and in the center of this is the large Scudder pennant. The display in this booth consists mainly of benchwork products, canned goods and corn exhibits.

The other schools that have exhibits of sufficient size to justify special booths are, Myrtle Tree, Bell Grove, Union, Herron, Quitman, Barnes, Martha Washington, Lasher, Conception and Lorain.

Probably of most interest to farmers and teachers are the various methods used in preparing reports and charts on crops, seeds, weeds, corn, etc. Particularly interesting are some of the agriculture notebooks. That vitallized agriculture is a big thing in Nodaway County is proven by the great number of useful and ornamental articles on exhibit by the various schools.

The great number of tempting and appetizing domestic science exhibits speaks well for the rural girls in culinary art. Everything from cow butter to grape jelly is displayed to tease the appetite. A survey of the farm products on display, would refute the general opinion that the farmer is in a hard row of circumstances. Pumpkins one couldn't carry, and squashes of equal sizes are among the displayed products. But fully appreciate the displays, a personal visit is necessary.

The judges are busy today making the awards and by tomorrow morning the complete list of prize winners will be announced.

COUNCIL AMENDS CITY ORDINANCES
COVERING SUBJECT.

TO PROTECT PROPERTY

New Ruling Applies to City Water
Plant—Sidewalk Ordered and Permits Granted.

At the regular meeting of the city commissioners, held last night, three ordinances were adopted providing for the protection of the city property at the water works plant, providing for the building of a new cement sidewalk along John Gray's property on North Buchanan street, and amending the section about intoxicating liquor by adding the word "possess."

The ordinance designed to protect the city water works property provides that it shall be unlawful for any one to hunt, fish or trespass upon the property or to go into or upon the waters and ponds or reservoirs of the city for swimming, skating or any other purpose without permission of the city or the manager. The penalty is a fine ranging from $5 to $100.

The ordinance about intoxicating liquor also relates to the use or possession of any still, doubler, worm, wash tub, mash tub or fermenting tub, used or fit for making intoxicating liquor.

All three ordinances carried an emergency clause and went into effect at once.

Pool hall licenses were granted to Ova C. Goff for four tables at Ed Godsey's barber shop, to Ed Godsey for two tables, and to Yoo Bros.

Moore Bros. were granted a permit for the building of a concrete and steel building, size 12x16 feet, on payment of the fee of $5. This building is to be erected on East Second street, near the Moore Bros. plant.

Permission was given to J. B. Brewer for the erection of a sign four feet above the sidewalk and securely fastened by bolts at his office in the Everhart building on South Main street. The Maryville Motor Company also was given a permit for a sign flat against the wall and bolted through the wall.

The general fund balance on hand October 4 was $2,501.63. The report of E. E. Tilton, city marshal, shows the collection of $252 in fines for the month of September and up to October 4. Marshal Tilton also reported the collection of $9 in dog taxes.

Twelve thousand striking miners are prepared to resist the call to go back to work. President William Freeman of the Kansas Federation of Labor has appealed to union labor in this state to aid the striking miners.

"To hell with Lewis and the Kansas courts," came the yell from the cell of Alexander Howat at Columbus. "Our plans are unchanged. We shall continue to fight."

ROOMS ARE FOUND

RESPONSE TO APPEAL IS PROMPT

ALL DID NOT REGISTER

Some Confusion Caused When Teachers
Hunt Rooms for Themselves.

Maryville's reputation as a good convention city has been upheld again this week in the way the thousand and more visiting teachers have been provided with rooms and otherwise cared for, according to George A. Pickens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Not only were rooms found for all the teachers, but there were enough left for 223 others.

The response of citizens to the emergency call for rooms was prompt and generous. It was thought until yesterday that there might be a room shortage, but the listing of additional rooms, together with the fact that many teachers had already secured rooms, gave the housing committee a big surplus.

"Some confusion was caused by teachers hunting their own rooms and not reporting to headquarters," said Secretary Pickens this morning. "If all teachers had reported and registered at headquarters, the reservations could have been distributed more evenly among the people who listed rooms."

"I want the people to know that their response was ample and that it was appreciated. If some houses are crowded, the teachers themselves must be blamed for not reporting at headquarters. By actual count we can still care for 223 others."

Many of the visitors came by automobile instead of by train. One party of twelve was delayed on the road and did not reach Maryville until 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night. They had no rooms and the hotels were full. Registration headquarters had closed for the night, but Secretary Pickens was called from his home and rooms were speedily found.

First—That our rural schools be allowed to teach ten grades and that the tests be accepted by the high schools of our state so as to allow the pupil to advance without further tests.

Second—That all grades shall be in the rural schools; shall be taught each year if there are pupils ready for that grade. Also, that we do instruct our Legislative committee to work for the passage of such a law.

Further, that we, the State Union in convention assembled, do ask the hearty cooperation of all farm organizations of our state in securing such a law.

EDUCATOR URGES A NEW NATIONAL PROGRAM FOR AMERICA

DARE NOT LIVE FOR SELF

Peace, Democracy, Education, International
Morality and Religion
Is Program

Yesterday afternoon's session of the Northwest District Teachers Association was marked by a masterful address by Dr. Hubert L. Willett of the University of Chicago on "America's New National Program."

"America's New Program has these great words at the head: Peace, Democracy; Education, Internationalism, Morality, and Religion," said Dr. Willett. "We are fighting a mighty fight for these principles: don't say you are not in it."

"The people of America are all lovers of peace. As a nation we have won many wars, which have been fought for this great principle. We have not fought for territory, indemnity or for any selfish purposes, but for the love of peace, the sake of righteousness and truth. We are the only nation that can emphasize this word. Let us throw away our arms and do away with war. Enough money is being spent on one battle ship now to establish religious and educational institutions in all the missionary fields today."

"America has seen the great vision and could land all the nations on the path of peace. The clouds of old prejudice and hatred have rolled in and obscured the vision, but the great ideals still exist and one day they will be realized. Will America dare not to lead?"

"Democracy, the right kind of democracy, is the only safe government for a progressive nation. Germany hated democracy. That was the reason she started the great world war. All of the leading nations have democratic forms of government, but some are not the right kind. We want the right kind and hope the people of all nations will pay the price to get that kind. The right kind of democracy cannot be had, however, without education."

War Opened Our Eyes.

The war has opened our eyes to many things in regard to education, the speaker said. We have found that we are behind in many respects. The nation's advancement has always gone hand in hand with the advancement of education. Dr. Willett suggested the reading of "Wells' Outline of History" for Mr. Wells emphasizes the value of education for all national growth. "Let us forget our political animosities and turn our attention to education," he urged.

"Our education must teach us to think internationally. No longer are we isolated; we must take our place in the world of affairs. The people of America must learn to think in international terms. America dare not live to herself alone nor for herself alone."

"Finally, we must remember that morality and religion in the hearts is the basis of all progress. Comradeship in religion is the only way to bring about results. It is the Christian people who have brought about the great moral reforms and they must now stand firmly together for moral and religious training."

"These five great principles are fundamental in America's new national program."

Observe Missouri Day

This morning's session of the general meeting was opened with community singing led by Prof. Charles Gardner. After the singing, Professor Hawkins, secretary of the Association in a few remarks said that this was distinctly Missouri day and suggested that the audience give the Missouri yell, which rang throughout the large auditorium, when led by "Bill" Mapel.

Professor Hawkins further stated that he had two regrets this morning first because Miss Myrtle McPherron, president of the Association was unexpectedly called to her home and the second regret caused by Mrs. George W. Gelhorn, one of the morning speakers failing to catch her train at St. Louis. Supt. O. G. Sanford of Trenton, second vice-president was introduced as the acting chairman of the remaining meetings and he turned introduced Dr. Henry R. (Continued on page 2)

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

SAYS U. S. MUST TAKE WORLD PART

Fairchild of the English department of the University of Missouri.

Dr. Fairchild is recognized as one of the leading educators of the state and his message this morning was one of vital interest to everyone of the great audience of teachers, who gathered to hear him. In opening his address Dr. Fairchild said, "Battles are lost and won in the minds of those who fight them. If the spirit shown here this morning is any indication of the frame of mind, it means a complete victory for what Mr. Hawkins termed as Missouri Day. He then went into his subject and discussed the values in life as the teacher's aim.

Values in Life

"The first value," said Dr. Fair-

child, "is organized will, or the power of concentration and sustained action. The difference between a child and man is that the child is controlled by his emotions and the man by his will. In the last analysis how much the student knows is not so important as his habits of mind."

In giving the second value, the speaker stressed the importance of the moral and intellectual things against the material. "It is the obligation of the teacher," said Dr. Fairchild, "to interpret to the pupil the value of the moral and intellectual as opposed to the material. Of course the material side is of importance. The teachers who struggle along on low salaries during the peak of wartime prices know that. I know more about the fluctuations of prices now than I ever knew in my life."

Dr. Fairchild particularly stressed the importance of giving proper intellectual and moral training to oneself. He took the individual as two persons you and yourself, and said that yourself was the person that you would have to live with through life.

"You may dodge other people that are disagreeable," said Dr. Fairchild, "but you can't get away from yourself. Ask any man of fifty years if he has lived happily with himself or not and you will find out if 'himself' has received the proper mental and intellectual food."

The third value as brought out in the talk was social service. Dr. Fairchild said that it was the obligation of every teacher to suggest or intimate to the student that he should use what he gains not only for himself but for society as a whole.

In looking at the educational situation in Missouri, Dr. Fairchild said, "I can see a new sun on the horizon in Missouri. If you and I will banish the clouds from our own mind, this new sun will reach its zenith. We are on the verge of a new era, and every one of us should put forth

LEAVES LAW TO BECOME COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

Defeated For Prosecuting Attorney, Norty Lilley Is Put in Charge of Schools and Makes Good

In Norty Lilley, superintendent of schools in Holt County and a visitor at the teachers meeting, the teaching profession has stolen a young man who once hung out his shingle for the practice of law. The young school executive attended the School of Law of the University of Missouri, and not so long ago, while he was still in the military service, he made the race for prosecuting attorney in his home county of Bollinger, in Southeast Missouri, with many another good Democrat, he went down to defeat.

Mr. Lilley was appointed county superintendent of schools in Holt County by Governor Gardner. He has gone about his duties with an industry and common sense that has made him popular with rural patrons. Already this year, since the opening of schools in September, he has visited every school in the county and is now starting on his second round.

Whenever the patrons themselves ask for consolidation to give their children better school advantages, Mr. Lilley favors the movement. Holt County now has six consolidated districts, three of which have first class high schools. The latter are at Fortesque, Bigelow and New Point. New Point is looked upon as one of the strongest rural high schools in the state. The district is now constructing a new building which is expected to be ready for occupancy by the first of the year. Consolidated District Number 1, north of Mound City, is also at work on a new building. The next consolidation will probably be at Corns, where favorable sentiment is very strong, and in the spring several other districts may be consolidated.

Holt county has 135 teachers and nearly all of them are here attending the Northwest Association meeting. Their enrollment in the state association is also nearly 100 per cent. Superintendent Lilley is now working out a plan for teachers' community associations which will keep them in touch with other and with new developments in the teaching profession. The community associations are well on the way toward organization. The county will be divided into five sections, each with a center where meetings will be held. These centers will be located with regard to their easy accessibility to the teachers.

A county basketball league has been organized among the schools this fall. There are ten teams entered, and several games have already been played. Each team will play six games and then the four highest teams will enter a tournament at Mound City late in November. A cup will be given to the team winning first place and a basketball to the second place quintet.

EDUCATION MUST BE WORLD WIDE, SAYS BISHOP STUNTZ

1,250,000,000 Illiterates A Stumbling Block to World Peace and Democracy

The education of 1,250,000,000 illiterates is the task which faces the pedagogical world today, emphasizes Bishop Stuntz, who addressed the Northwest Missouri Teachers' Association at the State Teachers College last night. The teacher must view the problem far-sightedly, and consider the education of the other half of the world, he said.

"South America has 72 per cent of illiteracy. On the eastern coast of South America natives, still daubed with their native paint, worship idols. Africa, with its 90 millions of blacks must be educated if we expect them to be helpful to us; to be safe for themselves and safe for the world. In regions about the Sudan no language or alphabet exists, a thing which handicaps the teacher who is trying to give assistance to the natives. People are working on the signs and symbols to try to decipher the grammatical background of the people of that region.

"The missionary was the first embassy who carried light to the darkest corners of the world. He was the one who made their languages available to the teachers of today."

The first tax supported school in South America, the Bishop said, originated at Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 1879. Forty-two years ago, thirty-six American teachers started this progressive educational development in South America. Today, Argentina has 7,000 students in its university and has a great many pupils in good high schools and elementary schools.

Bishop Stuntz, having had personal relationship with both educational and moral work abroad, spoke very highly of the wonderful educational work England has done in India. The first university in India was established at Calcutta in 1842. Since that time India has established four other universities. Taxation cannot permit free schools in India because of the poor financial conditions of the people there. In place of taxes, grants are given in aid of the teachers. These are paid in installments. India has eleven million students in her schools, more than any other country outside of Europe.

"Those who wield the powers of a self-governing nation must become acquainted with its national working, its national needs, its national ambitions," stressed Dr. Stuntz as he spoke of the democratic side of the situation.

"England is spending nine hundred million dollars for education in India, which means an expensive and a wonderful step in the elimination of illiteracy."

"China's new program of education promises three billion, eight hundred million dollars for school buildings in thirty years; to establish high and normal schools throughout the nation. She proposes to have every child in a school within the next generation. Instead of ideographs, their only form of language, they have adopted a new alphabet consisting of only thirty-nine characters, which may be learned by the average child in six months. The 25,000 Chinese signs and all other paraphernalia of their old form of written language has been discarded. America has had a profound influence in the beginning of this new era of Chinese educational development.

"Similar conditions existed in the Philippine Islands twenty-one years ago when 542 American teachers landed there to begin their work. Likewise, in the Philippines, America is holding up the torch in the great expanse of darkness.

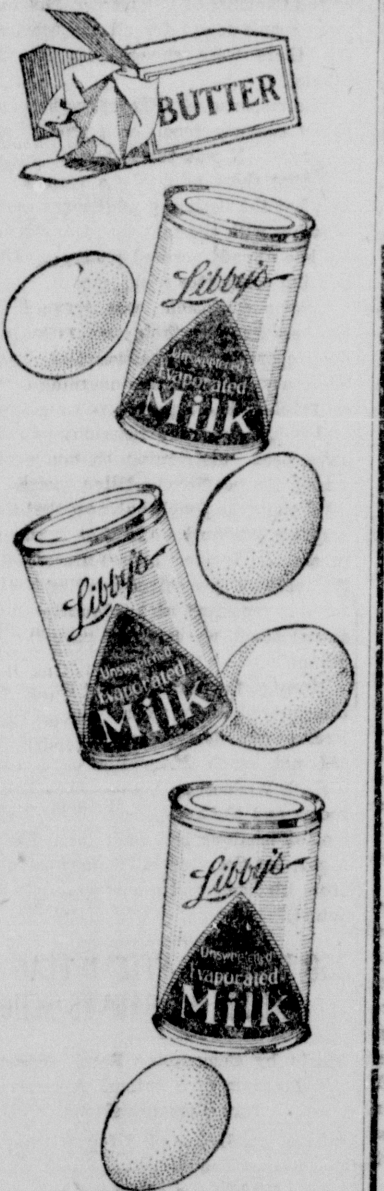

"If we are faithful to our task," concluded Bishop Stuntz, "we will find democracy and we will discard the horrors of future wars."

No Disappointments

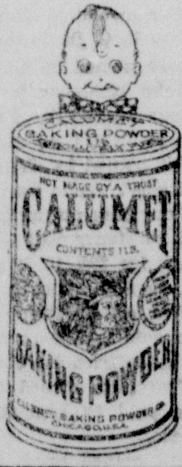

Millions of housewives use Calumet Baking Powder because of its dependability—because when they place their baking in the oven, they know it will "turn out" all right. They are confident of results because they know that no matter what they bake—pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins—the results will be the same—light, perfectly raised, wholesome foods.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Never disappoints. Don't prepare bakings with expensive ingredients and then have them spoiled because of an inferior leavener.

Have the same assurance that the majority of other housewives have.

A pound can of Calumet contains 1 1/2 cups. Some baking powders come in 1/2 cup sizes. Use 1/2 cup. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

TEACHER MUST DEVELOP INITIATIVE IN CHILDREN

School Should Make Use of Urge of Activity, Helping Child to Help Himself, Says Speaker.

Dr. Fannie C. Dunn said in a second address to the teachers of Northwest Missouri yesterday afternoon that the business of the teacher is to give life more abundantly to the children by helping them to help themselves.

Children are born with certain tremendous capacities, she said. "They do not necessarily realize on those capacities, however. The realization depends almost completely on the kind of education they receive. Consequently, it is up to the teacher to see that they do receive the right sort of education. "A child grows through continuous, perpetual activities Dr. Dunn continued. "In the first five or six or seven years of his life, that is, the pre-school period, he learns more than he probably learns all the rest of his life. Practically everything he learns, including fluency of speech and how to talk, things to do and things not to do, are learned through the unceasing movements and results of his own activity.

"The school must begin to understand and make use of this urge for activity, so that the child may continue his accumulation of knowledge in the natural way rather than inhibiting it. "The school is essentially a workshop for mental and physical activity. Materials and equipments for that workshop may be obtained from numerous sources, but those things that the teacher is obliged to ask the school board for must be requested specifically, telling just what he wants, why he wants it, what it costs and where to obtain it.

"Parent-teacher associations may be a great aid to the teacher in getting necessary equipment. Not everything the teacher needs can be obtained at once, but he must begin in a small way, building with a thought to the future. "Social organization is a thing that every child needs to learn in the school. The child should be given certain freedom and taught how to use it to his own advantage. By learning self-control then, he will be saved the necessity of learning it later with more disastrous results.

"Health clubs, hot lunch clubs and endless other organizations directed and managed by the children with only the advisement of the teacher, will develop initiative and purpose in the child. "The old ways must give way gradually to the new if the work of the teacher is to keep growing. "A teacher can measure her success by the increase in power of her students to work things out, the value of their purpose, the degree in which the child grows in initiative, and the extent to which they are willing to assume responsibility."

MUST PAY MORE ATTENTION TO BOOKS CHILDREN READ

By What He Does in His Spare Time Is a Man Known, Says Dean Everard.

"You can tell what kind of a man a man is if you can tell what he does when he doesn't have anything to do," said Dean L. N. Everard of Missouri Valley College, who spoke yesterday afternoon at the teachers' meeting. "especially the books he reads give an index to his character. We must pay attention to what our children read, since practically all the knowledge which they do not learn through actual contact, comes from the literature they read. "American children's knowledge of history is largely limited to their acquaintance with 'Paul Revere's Ride,' and 'The Battle of Lexington,'" the dean said.

"Poetry, being one of the finest of fine arts, properly taught to children, gives them a broader appreciation of the beautiful and the ideal. Even Democracy itself can be instilled into the child's plastic mind through that beautiful poem of Robert Burns, 'A Man's a Man for A' That.' "A true conception of God can best be given to the child through the breadth of our literature that comes from the pen of a seer—a character builder, and character building is the real function of the school."

CHART SERMON SHOWS TWO DESTINIES OF MAN

Eternal Death Is Inevitable Reward of Sin, Says Evangelist—Special Services Next Sunday

The chart sermon of Dr. Kellem at the First Christian Church last night drew a large attendance, in spite of the fact that the service began early and was made brief. It was a clear statement of the two destinies of Man,—the one to eternal life through the church, and the other to eternal death through the life of sin.

The chart showed the period of innocence before the child reaches the age of accountability and Scriptures proving that the child is saved should it die in this period of innocence were given. Such texts as Jesus' statement when He said, "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven" and "Except ye be converted and become as little children" were used.

"It is not necessary," said the Evangelist, for the child to be put through any religious ceremonies or ordinances to be saved. Every mother that has buried her little babe may rest assured that it has come home to reach an eternal reward."

The chart then showed the passing into a condition of sin when the age of accountability is reached.

"Two paths are open for the sinner. One through the Cross of Christ and into the church and finally salvation and the other a straight road to condemnation. No man can be saved except he go through the Cross and come in contact with the blood of Christ. For it is this blood that cleanseth us from all sin. He can have the blood of Christ by obedience to Christ, and when we obey we are in the church, so membership in the church after all becomes necessary to salvation."

"In the case of the Rich Man and Lazarus it is said of the rich man that he lifted up his eyes in torment. He did finally open his eyes but it was eternally too late. 'The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life through Christ Jesus, our Lord.'"

"There is no alternative. Punishment follows sin and unless your sin is forgiven, death shall be your reward. It pays to obey Christ in all the requirements of the Gospel. Live a life of service in the church and receive your eternal reward, in the home over there."

Services will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

The attendance at the revival is good and the interest is deepening from night to night. Still larger results are expected before the week comes to a close. Great preparation is being made for the Sunday services. The Men's Class is putting on a special personal campaign for attendance next Sunday. A special program of instrumental and vocal music is being prepared. Mr. Snodgrass will address the class. Price Doyle will sing a special number.

There were eight conversions in the Pickering Revival last night, making forty-four so far in the meeting. There were six confessions at Skidmore, and the meetings over the county are continuing with increased interest.

Returned from Trip to Philadelphia Miss Hilda Lahr returned this morning from a month's visit at Philadelphia where she visited with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buhler. She also visited at New York, Washington, Atlantic City and Baltimore.

PICKERING TEAMS WIN BOTH GAMES AT BOLCKOW

Boys Basketball Teasers Take Victory 33-15, and Girls Sextet Wins, 16-5

Pickering High School teams, both boys and girls won their basketball games with Bolckow High Wednesday on an out door court at Bolckow.

The girls game was played first and the Pickering girls won from Bolckow by a score of 16 to 5. The game was rather slow. The line up was as follows: Helen Strong and Ruth Clayton, forwards; Wanda Hinton, running center; Mildred Hinton, jumping center; Hazel Harrington, Capt., and guard; and Hazel Lampert guard.

The Boys game came next and the result was a victory for the Pickering quintet, the score being 33 to 15. This is the fourth consecutive game the boys have won, no game being lost so far. The game was rather rough and snappy at times. At the end of the first half the score was 15 to 12 in Pickering's favor.

The line up was as follows: R. Burks and D. Smith forwards; R. Houston center; Forrest Smith Capt., and guard; R. Rickard, guard.

F. Smith played a good defensive game in the last half. R. Burks in spite of a sprained wrist did well, leading the team with five field goals. D. Smith next with 4 field goals.

The Bolckow teams were good losers and after the game took the Pickering teams to a restaurant and gave them a lunch. Harold Brown, formerly captain of the Hopkins Basketball team, coaches the Bolckow team.

PLEASANT GROVE PASTOR TO OCCUPY PULPIT SUNDAY

The Rev. James E. Conder and Son Make Trip From Oregon In Automobile

Regular services will be held at Pleasant Grove church Sunday, both morning and evening. The new pastor, the Rev. James E. Conder, will occupy the pulpit at both services.

The Rev. Mr. Conder and son, John, arrived in Maryville Monday from Medford, Oregon, where the former was pastor of the South Methodist Church. They made the trip to Maryville in their car and traveled a distance of 2,500 miles. Mrs. Conder will not join her family in Maryville until later in the fall. The Rev. Mr. Conder succeeds the Rev. J. M. Engard at the South Methodist church in Wilcox and at Pleasant Grove. The parsonage for these churches is located at 222 North Walnut Street, Maryville. The son is a junior in high school.

TO START MOVEMENT FOR BETTER MAIL DELIVERY

Resident are Urged to Provide Proper Receptacles—Carriers to Make Report.

To expedite and make more efficient the delivery of mail, it is necessary that all buildings to which delivery is made be properly numbered and equipped with mail receptacles in order that these conditions are carried out the postoffice department has decided to conduct a nation-wide campaign with a view to bettering the postal service.

As a preliminary step Oct. 19 the postmaster of every postoffice having city or village delivery will have the carriers report every dwelling and place of business on their routes that are not numbered and equipped with mail receptacles. The postmaster will then communicate with the owners or occupants of the buildings and urge them to provide numbers and receptacles. No particular type of mail box is required. A slot in the door, or a conveniently located box of any suitable material will suffice. House numbers should conform to the system and style adopted by the municipal authorities.

Before the campaign starts the postmaster will confer with hardware merchants and others dealing in such articles with a view to having them provide a sufficient stock of mail receptacles, mailing slots and numbers to meet the public demand, and advertise them. Contractors and builders will be urged to aid the movement by properly numbering new buildings erected by them and providing mail slots in or near front doors, and the co-operation of the municipal authorities will be asked in the numbering of houses. After all delinquent patrons have been communicated with, letter carriers will report results and there will be follow-up efforts in cases where there has been no response.

The practice of placing mail in vestibules, under doors and on window sills where it is exposed to theft and the elements is hazardous and frequently results in the loss of highly valuable or important mail.

Our friend, the ticket seller, told us the other day that Maryville people are getting used to the war tax. Folks seldom have to be reminded of the extra charge now.

CONDITION HERE IS 92; IN STATE ONLY 82

AVERAGE PRICE IS $.35

Yield Will Be 33 Bushels an Acre—Oats, Potatoes and Pastures in Good Shape

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 14.—Missouri corn conditions of 82 forecasts a yield of 30.75 bushels upon the 8152,000 acres, or 189,205,000 bushels, according to the October report of E. A. Logan of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates and Jewell Mayes of the State Board of Agriculture. The yield in 1920 was 198,880,000 bushels, and the five-year average was 170,354,000.

The condition of corn in Nodaway County is 92 per cent of the October normal and farmers estimate the yield at 33 bushels with 96 per cent of the acreage fully matured. The average price in prospect is 35 cents per bushel. Farmers further report marketing 75 per cent of the 1921 wheat crop. The average yield of oats is 28 bushels and the quality is 91 per cent. Irish potatoes are yielding 65 bushels per acre and pasture condition is 72 per cent.

Missouri corn at 82 per cent on October first indicates a yield of 30.75 bushels per acre totalling 189,205,000 bushels against 32 last year. Reduction of four points during September, totalling 17,167,000 bushels in the toll paid by farmers from windstorms and heavy rains. Three times as much moisture fell in September as usual. Corn stalks already weakened by chinch bugs went down easily. Severe losses have occurred where there were small streams and rivers, from overflows, which either washed away corn in shock or completely broke down and ruined the standing crop.

Corn is molding in the shock, and many ears are sprouting on the stalk in fields. Heaviest rains have occurred this year in counties with best corn and careful estimates show that approximately eight per cent will be the state loss. Farmers in Carroll County estimate their damage at 15 per cent, Saline 13 per cent, Henry 12 per cent, and Boone 10 per cent. While the loss in actual bushels will be great, the damage in quality will be exceedingly severe and much more mouldy, rotten, and sprouted corn may be expected than usual.

On the first of October, 86 per cent of Missouri corn was matured, and fully 90 per cent of the crop in the northern third of the state, while in the southeast only 70 per cent of the crop was beyond frost. Late corn will take, on an average, a week to fully mature, with some fields running well towards the latter part of October. The average price in prospect is 41 cents per bushel and ranges from 30 in the western counties to 49 in the south central. Gribbling has not begun, but farmers are hogging down a larger acreage than usual, as they fear that all corn on the ground will be a total loss. Sharp frosty nights followed by clear, dry days would greatly benefit corn.

Wheat seeding has hardly begun in any section. Only a small acreage has been seeded in the northwest and southwest. Throughout middle Missouri, on either side of the river, the soil has been thoroughly water logged, and but little work has been done, and plowed in July and August is heavily covered with grass and weeds and will require either another plowing or double disking before seeding.

Rye has made good growth, especially in Holt County. Spring wheat final yield is 12 bushels per acre and a quality of 83. Oats yielded 20 bushels to the acre and quality 72 is 14 points below the average resulting in low prices for surplus oats. Barley averages 22 bushels per acre quality of 82.

Forage crops had very poor weather for curing, especially sorghums, soybeans and cowpeas. Rattler corn is damaged severely by worms in the southwest counties, where much seed will be near failure. Excessive rains have damaged hay stacks and prevented threshing of timothy and clover seed. Clover heads have been beaten off badly by rains.

Pastures are fine everywhere, except a few counties in the extreme northwest and in the immediate vicinity of St. Louis. Live stock are in good condition in nearly all sections, but hogs have developed cholera in a few counties and other disorders are prevalent from unseasoned corn.

Vegetables suffered from heavy rains and potatoes have rotted in the ground. Sweet potatoes are a good crop, but fall cabbage is very short. All fruits are absent except a few grapes, and apples have been shipped into nearly every section.

Farm work waits on dry weather

Army worms are reported in the southeast and chinch bugs are dreadfully bad in many sections. Poultry and butterfat are reported in numerous sections, as the only farm products bringing in any money at this time. Cattle are on the bargain counter and farmers are in a waiting mood.

BEARCATS AND OSTEOPATHS CLASH ON COLLEGE GRID

Each Team Has Lost Two Games in Early Season—Visitors Have Ten Pound Advantage.

Sixteen members of the football squad of Still College of Osteopathy of Des Moines arrived in Maryville this morning to meet the State Teachers College Bearcats on the College field this afternoon. It will be the third game of the season for each team and the first win for the one that emerges victorious.

The Bearcats have lost two games, one to Kirksville State Teachers College, 13-0, and one to Graceland College, 23-19. The Osteopaths also have a record to two drubbings, one at the hands of Des Moines University, 33-0, and the other from Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Rapids, 66-0.

The Osteopaths average between 160 and 165 pounds in weight, according to J. C. Cohlmeier, coach. The Bearcats are 10 pounds per man lighter. Both coaches have bear stories as to the physical condition of their men.

The local eleven is expected to be strengthened by the return of Webster Young, hard fighting end, who was last reported heading back to Maryville on a freight train. Steiger the other regular end, will probably be kept out of the fray by the broken nose he received last Friday. Graham, tackle, broke a rib in practice Wednesday.

The Osteopath squad is headed by its coach and by Mr. H. D. Wright, manager. The following line up will start the game: Nicholas; Sweezel; Staples; Fike; C; Prather; Snyder; Thomas; Garrison; Davis; Ibb; McWilliams; rrb; Murphy, lb.

For reserves, Coach Cohlmeier has Odell, tackle and end; Lebow, center; Lustig, backfield; Higelmeyer, end; and Wedel, quarter and fullback.

ABOUT THE TEACHERS

Secretary C. A. Hawkins announced at the general session this morning that only 216 railroad certificates had been turned in to the Railroad Secretary George Somerville and urged that every teacher turn in his certificate to help make the 350 necessary to earn the reduced rates.

Prof. Hawkins also announced that there were still plenty of rooms and for any delegates without places to get in touch with Mrs. A. R. Perrin.

Following the general session Thursday afternoon, each of the nineteen counties met in various rooms with their county superintendents and selected their representatives for the committees on nominations, resolutions, time and place and necrology. Each committee is composed of one representative from each county.

The committee on necrology, composed of the county superintendents, met this morning and only one death was officially recorded by its secretary, Miss Carrie Hopkins. This member was Miss Lula Hobson, of Parnell, who was teaching in Gentry County. The official records of others will probably be entered during the day.

The nominations committee named Carl Rose as chairman and Elmer Faris as secretary. Some time is being spent in preparing the slate for the election tomorrow and it is rumored that Prof. S. C. Richeson, of Norborne, third vice-president of the association, will be this committee's choice for president. Prof. C. A. Hawkins, will in all probability be re-elected as secretary.

Chas. Wells, who is teaching in the Plattsburg High School is here taking in the convention. Many will remember Charlie for his record in basketball and football at the Teachers College here.

The college chorus sang two selections at the Thursday afternoon session. The first was "Sunrise" by Tosti, and the second, "Morning Song" by Godard.

Each number showed excellent work, both on the part of Prof. Charles R. Gardner and of the students.

At the meeting of the alumni of the Northwest State Teachers College delegates were appointed to attend the state convention, which will be held in St. Louis next month. They were: S. C. Richeson of Norborne, Miss Goldia

Airy and Henry Miller of St. Louis and Miss Ella Moore, of Trenton. These delegates will probably be accompanied by the president, Miss Lucile Holmes, of Maryville.

The annual homecoming of the Philomathean Literary Society was held yesterday after the general session. A great many former members were present and thoroughly enjoyed talking over old times together. The present president, Miss Jeannie Blacklock, gave the address of welcome to all visiting former members and talks were made by Miss Myrtle McPherson of Martinsville, Miss Maude Flemming of Parkville, Mrs. Cleo Tobias of Martinsville, Mrs. Blaine Archer and Francis Tobias. In addition to the talks by the visiting members, three old members who were unable to attend were thoughtful enough to write letters. These letters written by Miss Tessie Degan of Dillon, Mont., Miss Mattie Dykes of Chicago University and Miss Ella Moore of Trenton. They were read at the meeting. Miss Helen Baker, a present member, gave a solo. It was a genuine pep meeting full of enthusiasm and the present members of the organization were charged with the responsibility of keeping up the high records of achievement set by its graduate members.

They tell us that there will be another reunion tonight. It is no official organization but as the girls termed it, "The Perrin Hall Bunch." This ought to be a grand reunion and many amusing and some trying experiences will probably be related by some of the former members. If the present members of the bunch are wise, they will probably get some good pointers and helpful hints from these former students.

Visiting guests at Perrin Hall during the teachers' meeting are Misses Ruby Scott, Jamesport; Blanche Nickell, Jamesport; Iva Lape, Laredo; Fay Croy, Gallatin; Ruth Ramsbottom, Breckenridge; Jennie M. Getz, Gentry; Mary A. Croy, Gallatin; Eunice Freeman, Altamont; Harriet Hawker, Wheeling; Retta Butler, Wheeling; Mary Hansell, Graham, and Mrs. Irvin Schapaugh, Jameson.
